

Creative London

A creativity Squared project

Creative London is a project to help young Londoners progress within the film and TV, video gaming, drama and other creative sectors.

Join London's Creative Industry

This short programme aims to enable old and young who are NEET / economically inactive to gain industry relevant and pre-apprenticeship skills and progress into sustainable employment or an apprenticeship in the creative sector.

Alongside training in specific job skills, participants are supported with:

- Overcoming barriers to work such as confidence, lack of recent experience, basic skills, job-seeking skills.
- Having a mentor who will guide them through the programme and further on until a sustained job or apprenticeship outcome is reached.

Within 4 weeks of completing the programme, we aim for participants to move into job roles or an apprenticeship, connected to the creative sector.

About ConnecMe2 Trust (CM2 Trust)

“In 2016 we designed an initiative that took 20 aspirational inner-city young adults on a trip to Sweden to meet with the president of Sony Mobile. This led to an invite to Barcelona and then to Berlin, opening up opportunities and introductions to a raft of businesses that championed these talented individuals who now work in varied roles in the creative industry” (Alfonse Orji, head of Business Development and ConnecMe2 Trust Founder)

ConnecMe2 Trust (CM2 Trust) is a London-based non-profit, generating opportunities for young people to grow to be positive members of our community by connecting them to their vocational goals.

We work with partners across education, various sector skills charities, local government and business to support young people to train, gain insight, qualifications and experience the work place. Our vision is for a London where all young people can thrive through developing their intrinsic talent to become skilled professionals.

Our mission is to support the capacity of all young people to shape and develop their careers and their wellbeing.
