Teach Computing London & Berkshire.

teachcomputing@lgs.slough.sch.uk

Funded remote CPD for computing teachers

Remote delivered CPD sessions

Teach Computing has a comprehensive programme of funded CPD courses for teachers which can be accessed remotely.

Courses coming up include:
Teaching and Leading KS1
Fundamentals of Computing Networks
Introduction to Primary Computing

Visit https://teachcomputing.org/courses for more information, including dates and how to book.

Latest news

New timetable for home teaching

We are starting a new six week block of lessons, the new timetable has been uploaded to confluence. You can check out the latest home teaching blog each Monday on the news section of the website

Find out more

New podcast

Episode 10 of the Teach Computing podcast is live! Hear from James Robinson and Lydia Chinaka as they discuss action research in the classroom.

Find out more

Support for teachers and parents

Continue with your professional development with our new remote CPD, visit teachcomputing.org/courses for CPD details.

You can access a range of home teaching resources and websites on teachcomputing.org that can be used to continue educating and supporting young people whilst they are at home. This includes our fantastic resource repository, through which you can access lesson plans, units and activities that can be used to teach your pupils.

Find out more